Welcome to The Bloomsbury Hotel

The Doyle Collection brings together a select group of urban havens in six major cities. Eleven hotels of contrasting character share a single aim: to provide guests with a modern interpretation of genuine hospitality and professional service.

We are proud that The Bloomsbury Hotel achieves this ambition. Lavishly refurbished, it marries high-end contemporary design with traditional elegance in this listed building, created by Sir Edwin Landseer Lutyens. He would approve of its gracious, understated luxury in a landmark London setting.

We pride ourselves, too, on the Landseer British Kitchen's classic British dishes and modern contemporary dining. Our truly magnificent business and conference facilities blend high-tech modernity with old-world grandeur.
